KINDLY TAKE NOTE

Where Bulbs are desired by Parcel Post be sure to include a moderate amount additional to the cost of Bulbs to cover this cost, otherwise orders will be shipped per Railway Express. Many orders are received each year asking that they be shipped per mail with nothing included to cover this cost, such orders hereafter will be sent only by Express.

With acute labor shortages existing everywhere it has been very difficult this year to fill orders promptly. We are fortunate in growing most of our Liliiums and many other bulbs and can ship many kinds much earlier than regular dealers who grow nothing. Arrivals of some varieties will no doubt be rather later and more uncertain this year but we hope to be able to fill Bulb orders as promptly as in former years.

Supplies of many varieties are much lower than even a year ago and we may list a few varieties which failed to produce satisfactory crops.

LILIUMS

Fall is far the best season for planting all Liliiums, although a few planted in Spring will do moderately well, and assist in spreading the flowering season. Candidum and testaceum can be planted earlier than other varieties, and we can supply a good many kinds during September and all but a very few in October. Bulbs can go in until actual freezing up weather and give better results than delaying the plantings until spring. At present certain varieties of Liliiums, including speciosums, auratums, rubellum, japonicum and a few others are virtually unprocurable and will remain so for the duration, however a goodly range of first class varieties are to be had which will carry the flowering season from late May until mid-October.

NARCISSUS

Narcissus (Daffodils) have for a number of years been entirely of American culture and have proved to be very satisfactory in quality. Due to labor shortages the large growers are unlikely to be able to harvest all their saleable bulbs this season, this also holding good of our domestic Tulips. The great increase in the overheads of the growers makes it absolutely necessary to advance prices moderately this season, and it will probably be a little later than usual when shipments come to hand. It will probably be early October before many Narcissi and Tulips are received from the growers but that is in ample time for the best results.

Please remember in ordering Daffodils, if these are wanted per mail to include a reasonable amount to cover cost of mailing, or such orders will have to go per Express.
